Restoration, Preservation & Building Envelope Services

Protecting the Performance, Safety and Longevity of Existing Buildings

Intertek provides comprehensive restoration, preservation, and building envelope consulting services for historic, aging, and occupied structures. Our team helps owners, property managers, condominium associations, architects, and institutions assess existing building conditions, identify deterioration, develop repair strategies, and oversee successful restoration projects from concept through construction.

Whether addressing immediate safety concerns, planning future capital expenditures, or preserving historically significant structures, Intertek delivers technical expertise and practical solutions that extend building service life while protecting valuable assets.
